

Public High School

School Profile

Alameda is located on a small island next to Oakland, in the San Francisco Bay. Students are priority #1 in Alameda School District. Educators, staff and administrators work together to ensure a first class education for every student. The strong community-wide support for schools ensures every child the very best opportunity to succeed and creates a vibrant and engaged community. Alameda School District offers international students a classic American high school experience with all activities, clubs and school subjects that can be expected, together with some unique and extra interesting ones.
